

At The Rick Erwin Dining Group, nothing is more important to us than the health and safety of our customers and our family of associates. In each of our restaurants, we are putting tremendous emphasis on the procedures that support our high standards in the areas of cleanliness and health. Some of the most important areas of focus are:

- Requiring all associates to wear face masks and gloves
- Ensuring that our excellent hand washing practices are rigorously followed
- Recording the temperature of associates when they arrive for work
- Strictly requiring associates who don't feel well to stay home from work
- Adhering to the current occupancy limitations imposed on restaurants and encouraging reservations to help monitor occupancy
- Maintaining proper social distancing protocol within the restaurant by spacing tables 6 feet apart
- Staffing our restaurants in a manner that reduces the need for associates to work in close contact
- Frequently disinfecting commonly touched surfaces in all areas of our restaurants

According to the CDC, "Coronaviruses are generally thought to be spread from person-to-person through respiratory droplets. Currently there is no evidence to support the transmission of COVID-19 associated with food."

We are excited to re-open with limited occupancy and serve you once again inside our restaurants. Strict social distancing measures are in place, and we are committed to the "Phase Two Recommendations" for re-opening as recommended by Governor McMaster along with pledging our support of the Palmetto Priority Program.

Every day, we hold ourselves to very high cleanliness and health standards that are designed to maintain a safe and healthy environment in our restaurants. In addition, we remain vigilant in learning more about this disease by monitoring developments closely and keeping informed of additional recommendations from DHEC and other public health agencies.

We are committed to doing what's right to protect our customers and associates and to do our part in preventing the transmission of Coronavirus.

Thank you to our loyal customers for your continued confidence and trust in our people and our company.
